

I oppose the idea of internet wiretapping. I believe that it should be just as much a crime to open someone's email as it is to open someone's US postal mail. Although it may help in "terrorist" wiretapping, I feel that this could lead to an invasion of privacy. Maybe if warrents are required, as is the case with house searches, I can see this being a semi-acceptable act.